DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: on page 3 line 26, there is a reference to claim 1 which is not appropriate.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 1-19 are finally rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

With respect to claim 1: the phrase "a binder being added to the fibrous material, the binder and fibrous material being pressed into a preformed part upon application of heat" is vague since claim only may encompassed plastic particals therein [note the phrase "a portion of particles and/or fibres from plastic"].

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

6. Claims 1-19 are finally rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Willoughby [5,154,361].

Willoughby discloses, a method for producing a fibrous material for the manufacturing of preformed parts, in which a portion of particles and/or fibres from plastic material is admixed to a first group of fibres and/or particles, the particle size of the particles or fibres from plastic material approximately corresponding to the particle size of the particles or fibres of the first group [fine materials, col 3 line 29], in which a binder being added to the fibrous material, the binder and fibrous material being pressed into a preformed part upon application of heat, wherein the particles and/or fibres from plastic material are obtained by crushing and/or defibration of agglomerate from pure or mixed plastics with water in a disc refiner [col 2 line 18 to col 3 line 40] .

Any remaining limitations not disclosed in the reference would have been obvious modifications by one skilled in the art once the basic apparatus was known depending on the material and application to improve the quality of the end product and as the option of the user of the device.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments filed 11/13/07 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In response to applicant's argument on pages 5-6 that Willoughby is directed towards a method of quickly producing finely sized particles by taking plastic scraps and putting them in a cutting machine with water and an anti-foam agent, not a method of producing fibrous materials as in the present application. This argument is not understood since the Willoughby reference clearly discloses producing fibrous materials [col 3 lines 4-29 and claims 12 and 18].

In response to applicant's argument on page 7 regarding "agglomerate", the examiner would like to point out that as stated in the applicant specification page 2, "agglomerate" refers to a high degree of mixing which Willoughby clearly teaches by producing fine sized particles.

Conclusion

8. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
